

Swinging On A Star

Harry Lillis "Bing" Crosby Jr. was one of America's first superstars. He had more hit singles than any other recording artist in history, starred in scores of movies — winning an Oscar for best actor in 1944 — and hosted radio programs which reached millions of listeners each week. During WWII he toured the front lines and was described as "the person who did the most for the morale of overseas servicemen" by Yank Magazine. He was also a very successful entrepreneur, helping to found the recording company Ampex, building the Del Mar race track, developing real estate, buying TV stations, and co-owning a major league baseball team. Bing's biggest hit song was "White Christmas," which stayed at number one on the radio charts for 11 weeks, becoming the most successful single of all time. Will and Joe will share many of Bing's biggest hits — including "Count Your Blessings," "Pennies From Heaven," "You're Getting To Be A Habit With Me," "In The Cool, Cool, Cool Of The Evening," "Brother, Can You Spare A Dime?" "Small Fry," "Swinging On A Star," "Accentuate The Positive," and "True Love"— as well as stories about how certain songs came to be created.
